

Instructional Technologies, Inc.

“A Professional Driver Training Company”

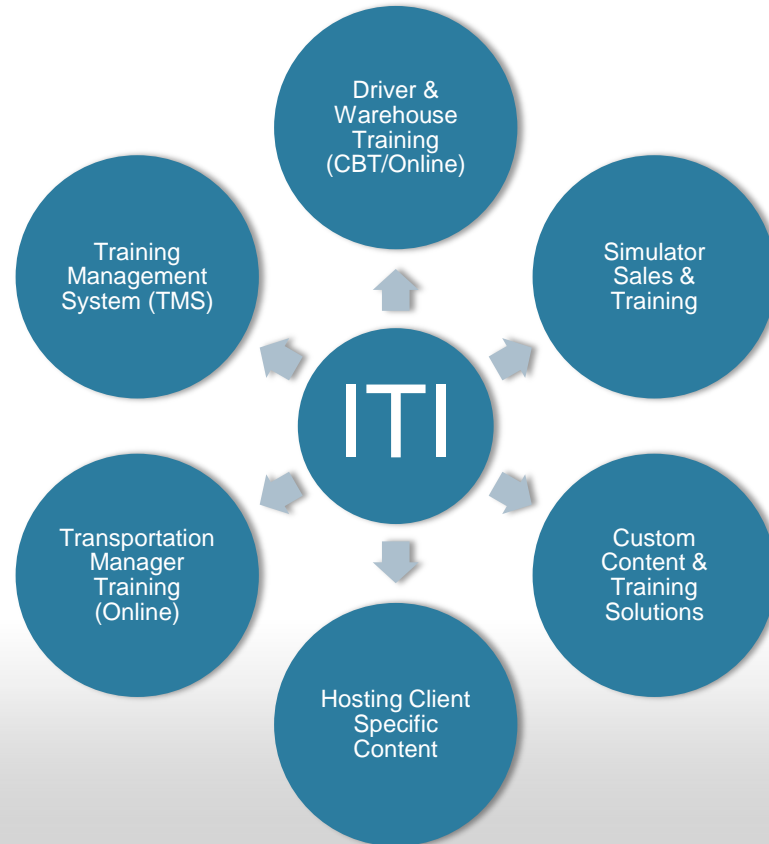

QUICK FACTS

- Located in Vancouver, WA USA
- Founded in 1995 by James W. Voorhees Ph.D, (Simulation and Training background from NASA and US Military), and Robert Johnston.
- Driver Focused For-Profit Production House
- Started in the field of young driver training and simulation
- Moved into the Professional Driver Training market with Lockheed Martin
- Leading Provider of Online Interactive Training Solutions for Professional Truck Drivers and Warehouse workers
- Trains 80,000 Users Each Month
- 4.25 Million Lessons Taken Overall
- Driver Training through Simulator Systems
- Custom Driver Training and Testing

WHAT ITI DOES

- ITI works with the transportation industry, regulatory entities and industry associations to utilize technology to increase the safety of drivers on the road
- Safe driving and injury prevention through proper training and testing is top priority

NON-TRADITIONAL MARKETS

- Developing new relationships with domestic and international partners to introduce new technologies and methods aimed at training safe responsible drivers
- Finding uses for ITI processes and technologies in other industries and markets
- Identifying potential partners to license and utilize ITI processes and technologies in their respective areas

